SAMPA GALLERIES

São Paulo's historic centre is the place to find amazing galleries, most of them built in the 60's. Their entrances are mainly located on the pedestrian streets and they are used as passages, connecting different streets through the middle of the blocks. Opened to the city and access free, they are used as public spaces.

From restaurants, bars and cafés to offices, photography, electronics and games stores it is possible to find anything you want in these tunnels of time. You can go finding one of these things or just let you lose yourself.
