CHICAGO

BUT FIRST, COFFEE

Maybe is because when we travel days and nights are very long and we need to be wide awake, and maybe is because one of Chicago's best known icons is called "The Bean" but in any case making a minimap about some of Chicago best cafes, seemed very right, if not absolutely necessary!

-Gustavo.

1. PASSION HOUSE COFFEE ROASTERS

This relaxed cafe offers an excellent selection of direct trade specialty coffees, which they're responsible for roasting and classifying under 3 genres: Ambient, Mainstream, Experimental. Taste the 3 and find out what's your favourite!

2. GASLIGHT COFFEE ROASTERS

Grab a book and order a Almond Milk Latte with a GasLight Breakfast, and if you're running low on caffeine a Kenya Wahundura.

A time tunnel straight to the 80s. The ideal place to enjoy delicious coffee and nostalgia. I recommend a Peanut Butter Koopa Troopa.

6. CAFFÈ STREETS

An ode to good architecture. My recommendation: the Monkey Latte while indoors being amazed, & a Spicy Hot Chocolate to go out and enjoy the city.

Illuminating coffee, they say, and one of the best roasters of coffee in Chicago. My recommendation: get a Black Cat.
